| snorkeler | Maui | Honolua Bay | 9/26/2013 | rescued | | | There would have been a death except a bystander noticed a young woman face down, brought her to shore and started rescue breathing and would have proceeded to CPR but discovered he no longer needed to. so he basically saved her life as a one man rescue team. Others came running, including a nurse and doctor and her husband, she was carried off the rocky shore to the path, and people called 911 - response was UNDER five minutes. Incredible. She was 'oriented times 3' by the time we left. | |
